

Volunteer Opportunities

Volunteers play a critical role in the success of Midland Co-op Credit Union.

The Board of Directors is responsible for setting credit union policies and determining the direction of the credit union. They hold monthly meetings and periodic strategic planning sessions. Directors are elected to three-year terms after which they may be re-elected. Elections are held at the Credit Union Annual Meeting.

The Supervisory Committee is responsible for ensuring that the credit union manages its assets and conducts operations in a safe, sound and fiscally prudent manner along with making certain regulations, procedures and policies governing the credit union are followed. Supervisory Committee members elected to three-year terms after which they may be re-elected. Elections are held at the Credit Union Annual Meeting.

These volunteers are all members of the credit union. This unique structure sets credit unions apart from other financial institutions – credit unions are truly run by the members for the members.
